Right now, when your loss is so fresh, it may be difficult for you to imagine that this pain will ever go away. But in time the blessing of God's unfailing love will soften the hurt you're feeling and bring your heart the peace, comfort and hope that it needs to heal. How? Revelation 21:4 tells us that soon everything that causes us pain, including death, will be gone forever. We also have the hope of our loved ones being resurrected here on earth, as Acts 24:15 tells us. I do hope you find comfort in this. Though I did not know your loved one, she sound like a beautiful person. I am touched by your loss. Please accept my sincere condolences. JW.org.

Sweet Kaylee, I never new you all grown up- only as a tiny little one. I remember your mama being so excited to meet you. And I remember seeing tiny little you with her at Cedar Ridge. I have followed your journey the last several months, and I am fully convinced that Heaven is still having a glorious party regarding your arrival! We will be missing you here, but greatly anticipating the day that we too will join you above, and see you walking hand-in-hand with our Father. Praying for your family left behind here on Earth, and will continue.

No words or deeds will create a change in the circumstances regarding your precious daughter. We must accept and with thankfulness for Kaylee's life and believe she has returned home to her Father. Many people take many years to impact a number of people in the way Kaylee did. Kaylee, however, became a hero at a far too young age but with the faith of many. May her example of how she lived be a model to many others as we carve our own way through life. RIP sweet girl!

My heart ?? breaks for Kaylee and her family and for all of us who felt like she was part of our family. I so wish Kaylee's outcome could have been so different. I find comfort in knowing that we did everything that St Jude's asked us to do to allow her to attend school as Kaylee wished. ?????? Ms. "Krush" Kraszkievicz UHS Health Clerk
