My mom finally was able to meet her father, James "Noble" Alexander, who passed away during WW II before having the chance to meet her as a baby. I find peace in my spirit, thinking of that reunion. Finally, mother, father and daughter together at last. I love you all and will see you soon.

I remember so many good times at the trailer at Tenkiller Lake & the times Mike & I hung out with Bruce & Jodi when we had no money and they fed with us. I remember when Jodi would keep Shanda when I had to work sometimes, and the time when I returned to pick her up early & Lisa and Shanda were running around the house with baby bottles full of coke! (Jodi just loved the kids so much, she gave them anything they wanted!) She was a special person and I will always cherish her memory, not only as my sister-in-law, but my friend. Although we haven't stayed in touch much more than FB, after more than 50 years, I could have stopped by when I was in town and she would welcome me with open arms. I know there will be a Jodi shaped hole in all of our hearts forever. Blessings to all of you she has left behind, Love, Paula
