Dexter Eggleston

SEP 25, 1946 - FEB 27, 2015

Dexter Eggleston was born September 25, 1946 in Troy, New York and passed away February 27, 2015 in Tulsa, Oklahoma. Dexter was retired from work and loved every minute of relaxing. He spent the majority of his time playing Pogo on his computer. While playing Pogo he met a group of friends in his online community. When Dexter wasn't playing Pogo he enjoyed doing yard work and visiting with his family. He especially loved his dog Marissa. Dexter will be missed by everyone who knew and loved him. Dexter is survived by his daughter Marie Vargas; granddaughter Dany'll Vargas, special friend Dorothy Wilkinson and of course his beloved dog Marissa. There are no services planned.

Yesterday we found out Auntie Beth should be joining you soon. Her lungs are getting worse. It's getting harder for her to breathe. I hope you make her feel welcome. Anyway, I'm currently visiting the family in Arizona. Today I went to the circus with Darla and Kolton and grandma and Auntie Beth. It was fun. You would've liked it. Lots of cool tricks and stunts. These days are getting so much harder. I would wake up and for a moment I'd forget that you weren't out playing your games on the computer, watching The Price is Right on TV. Then it would all come back to me. You falling, the wail of the ambulance, the sounds of the hospital. They said you would be okay. They lied. Can you see me?

I miss you. Like really miss you. And I haven't been handling it well. Neither has the dog. I finished middle school. I got really bad grades but I still got in 8th grade. I'm going to try harder next year. Do you think I can be an engineer? I want to. It's lonely here without you, especially since it's summertime. It's just not the same. It's too quiet. I never thought I'd lose you. You seemed too strong. Can you see me?
