Dean was always known to me as "Squirrel". I never ask way he was called Squirrel but was a name that stuck with from childhood. Dean sure "loved" Alma's company and her home cooked meals. My fond memories of Dean were the great conversations around the dinner table.The stories Dean told about himself growing up and becoming man were priceless. I remember him and Alma were always planning, may not always agreeing, outdoor trips but don't get me wrong Dean worked hard and enjoyed his recliner. You stayed out of his recliner too. He kept an eye on Ricky and I during our younger years. He always wanted to know what we were getting or planning. He was a good father and always had the time to talk to Ricky and I. I always felt welcome and safe in their home and could count on them for anything. I have so many stories about "Squirrel" and his family that I will always keep them in my heart. We have lost a good man, husband, father, grandfather, family member, co-worker and friend. God Bless his family, Sheldon
