Watching the Thunder play and missing my mom. Both Durant (her favorite player) and Westbrook (my favorite player) are injured and out, Reggie is gone, and Iblocka is the only one I recognize on the court. I wonder who my mom would like on this team today. I sure miss talking with her, among other things..... Love you mom!!!!!!

My mom would have been 78 today. I used to send her flowers on her birthday and she would fake mad because I spent the money. But, I could see how much she always loved them so I'd send them. Still do. I found a great florist in Corinth who will deliver to a cemetery, Magnolia Flower Shop. They even take a picture so I can see how it looks. I'll have to stop in and thank them next time we're in Corinth.

Not a day goes by that I don't miss my mom. Thanksgiving number two without her and it still doesn't feel right. Of all the things I miss most of her, I think it is just simply talking with her. Hearing about her life, her experiences, and her infinite wisdom. I loved it when she lived with me. I miss her.

Today it's Easter, and 6 months since my mom entered heaven. Today she gets to celebrate the resurrection with the resurrected. Remembering last Easter and our walk to the park to watch the kids hide and hunt Easter eggs. The sun was shining and mom just loved being outside with some of her kids, grand kids, and great-grand kids. None of us had any idea it would be our last Easter together. So happy she spent it with me. Miss her every single day.

It's been five months today since my mom left us. Not a day goes by that I don't miss her. It's strange, all the time we spent together, all the advice and guidance she gave me over the years, all the questions I did ask her... I can think of a million questions now that I wish I had asked. There are just so many things about her I miss. And I always will.

Today would have been my mom's 77th birthday. Not a day goes by that she is not missed terribly by all her children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren, sisters, brothers, and friends. My prayer is that she is dancing in heaven with all those that preceded her in death, and that she knows that she raised us to all be strong so she is not worried about us. Until the day I can see her again, I love you mom!!!!!!!!!!!!

Donnie Joyce Cooper Davidson, 76, passed away Sunday, October 20, 2013 after nearly a year long battle with uterine cancer. She passed peacefully at her home in Tulsa, Oklahoma surrounded by the love of her family. Donnie was born on February 6, 1937 as a triplet to the late William Robert and Jessie Cooper of Corinth, Mississippi. She grew up on a farm as one of 14 kids, one of the eldest of the 2nd set of children born to her parents. Donnie began working at the very young age of 12 to help support the family at a local truck stop, working nights and weekends during school and all the time during the summers. After Donnie graduated from Biggersville High School, she went to work at the pants factory until she married and relocated to California where her father and brother lived. She lived in California for nearly 15 years, and it was during this time that she brought her own children into the world, giving birth to four girls and then twin boys. In 1975, several years after the death of her father, Donnie relocated with all 6 of her kids to Tulsa, Oklahoma to continue raising her children on her own. It was at this time that she began her career at Bama Pie. Donnie retired from Bama Pie after 26 years of service. She worked on the line, as a line leader, and then went into Bama Pie Security. Donnie was also an active member of Parkland Baptist Church in Tulsa where she volunteered in the kitchen, nursery, cleaning crew and anywhere else she was needed until it closed down in 2010. Donnie dedicated her life to her children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren. Her family describes her as the glue that always held everyone together. Donnie was the type of person that would do anything, for anyone, as long as she was able. She went above and beyond for all of her children and grandchildren, always. She was always the voice of reason when it was needed, and always gave the best advice. She seemed to not only always have an answer for whatever problem you may be having, but it was always a good answer. Donnie may be physically gone from this world, but she will continue to live on in the hearts of her children and grandchildren, forever. Donnie is survived by: Brothers: Thomas Cooper of Iuka, Mississippi; Harold Cooper and wife Pat of Corinth, Mississippi. Sisters: Mary Ellen Goodman of Missouri; Alice Thrasher Corinth, Mississippi. Children: Sandra Kirkpatrick and husband Bill of Ponca City, Oklahoma; Joyce Rower and husband Scott of Ponca City, Oklahoma; Marit Skjerseth of Tulsa, Oklahoma; Tina Skjerseth of Tulsa, Oklahoma; Tod Skjerseth of Tulsa, Oklahoma; Tim Skjerseth of Tulsa, Oklahoma. She is also survived by 11 grandchildren and 8 great grandchildren. In lieu of flowers, the family is requesting that donations be made to St. John's Hospice in Tulsa, Oklahoma. Donnie's final resting place will be in Mississippi between her parents and her sister Bonnie (one of the triplets who passed at age 3). Final services will be held 11/23/2013 in Mississippi prior to burial. Location to be determined.
