John 14:15-20 Jesus explained 'If you really love me, you will keep my commands. And I will ask the Father and he will give you another comforter (counselor, helper, intercessor, advocate, strengthener, and standby) that he may remain with you forever – The Spirit of Truth, whom the world cannot receive because it does not see him or know and recognize him. But you know and recognize him, for he lives with you constantly and will be in you. I will not leave you as orphans (comfortless, desolate, bereaved, forlorn, helpless); I will come to you. Just a little while now and the world will not see me any more, but you will see me. Because I live, you will live also. At the time when the day comes you will know for yourselves that I am in my Father and you are in Me and I am in you.'Until we meet at heavens gate. Love you forever....Aunt Marla

Scott,I have been thinking for days what to put on here. Nothing seems to fit because it all seems so final. Nineteen years is a long time to recap in a paragraph. Please just keep your arms around your mom, dad, kaden, and the rest of your family. You have always been such a rock in my life. When our moms got sick I could always count on you to bring a smile to my face and yet with the same comment reassure me that they were going to be okay. You would say "if they could survive raising us... They are definitely going to beat this". I would laugh thinking back on all the hell we put them through during the years, but at the same time felt a calm sense of peace for our moms. You were such a gift to me and everyone you encountered-the darkest room lit up when you walked in and the quietest room burst into laughter with your presence.In the coming days, weeks, and months just please let your love surround those of us that loved and cared about you because there is such a void in our lives now that you are gone, and we are going to have to adjust to the new normal of you being gone. I can't wait to be able to share our stories with Kaden and remind him every time I see him and remind him that he was the center of your world. I hope you are enjoying it up there with Cameron and Papa. Fly high sweet boy- ill see you when I get there, and until then I see every bit of you in your son.Love always, Melissa Griffin
