Vera Mae Jackson

JAN 6, 1944 - NOV 3, 2011

Vera Mae Jackson 67 died Thursday evening in her home in Broken Arrow. She was born January 6, 1944 in Orangeburg, South Carolina and was the daughter of Rufus and Beulah (Myers) Brown. She held several different occupations in her lifetime. She enjoyed her work the most when she was a social worker. She is survived by her husband Donald, sons, Edger, Charles, Phillip, Eli, and Titus. There is also one daughter Monica Jackson and 10 grandchildren left to carry on her wonderful legacy. Vera also has brothers Rufus Brown, and Gene Brown and Carl James, and a sister Pauline to mourn her passing.

Sister Jackson will forever be remembered by our family. Her joy and love for her husband, family and work was evident in her life. I am proud to have been a part of her life. She treated my children with so much love they will miss her greatly. Thank you Sis Jackson for being the virtuous women in my life, you were greatest example I have ever met. Pastor Jackson we will continue keep you and your family in our prayers. She is Healed and whole and in the arms of Jesus. Praise the Lord.
