Parker Boyd Wade

JAN 13, 2010 - AUG 26, 2010

Parker Boyd Wade, born at 11:17 p.m. on January 13, 2010, who couldn't wait forty-three minutes for his daddy's birthday, began a journey that rocked the lives of many. Born at the Indian Hospital in Claremore, Oklahoma, he struggled to breathe and was transported by helicopter to St. Francis Children's Hospital in Tulsa; thus began his life, an all-too-short chapter, which affected everyone in contact. There was no reason for his illness; there was no name for his disease. After almost two months in the NICU, two surgeries and five procedures, he came home. He played and spent precious time with his parents and restricted visitors. One month later, he was admitted again into the Children's Hospital. This stay led to an anticipated open heart surgery with two months of recovery, including the discovery of an underlying lung disease. The severity of this lung disease remained unknown but would later take his life. On July 14th, after a tracheostomy surgery, Parker came home on his momma's birthday. At six months old, he discovered his face and hands. He enjoyed touching his parents' face, holding their hands, kisses and holding his head up all by himself while being bounced. On weekends, his parents and he would nap together. On Tuesday, the 24th of August, he was taken to the hospital and admitted for the last time. Parker Boyd Wade is survived by his parents, Jason (DaddaBear) and Kindra (MommaBear) Wade of Claremore and grandparents, Darrell (Grandpa Dil) and Angie Wade of Coweta, Christine (Nana) and Mike Pelfrey of Langley, and Ray (Papa) and Theresa (Mema) Darnell of Claremore. A celebration of his life will be held on Tuesday, August 31, 2010, 3:00 PM in the Floral Haven Funeral Home Chapel, Broken Arrow, Oklahoma. Interment will follow in the Garden of Angels, Floral Haven Memorial Gardens.

Parker you precious one.....We remember visiting you the first time in the hospital. We were a little nervous to hold you at first with all the tubes and things but soon we learned that anything we might encounter your parent's were already one step ahead. We could hold you but you were'nt strong enough yet to take a bottle so the nurse would get your tube feeding ready and your Daddy said.....hang on a minute. He asked the nurse for an eye dropper to wet your lips with the breast milk your Mommy supplied for the tube feeding. You see your parents were always taking their roles a step further so you could benefit in any way they could help withthey wanted you to associate feedings with taste not just a full belly.Jason & Kindra.....thank you for sharing Parker's love with all of us. You both showed us all what the meaning of unconditional love is really all about.Love. Uncle Kevin & Aunt Tina Parker's little life was way too short, but his fight touched so many people. And his parents...WOW – Where to start? Incredible, inspiring, God-loving people that are the absolute image of what a parent should be. Their ability to share Parker's ups and downs with those around them is astounding. Because of this, Parker and his family were prayed for diligently. And on one hand, our prayers were answered. God has healed him and taken him in His arms and will continue to care for him until the day that his MommaBear and DaddaBear are able to hold him again. And now they have the most precious Guardian Angel that anyone could have asked for. Many prayers and love go out to this amazing family as they try to pick up the pieces in their life!
