My thoughts of Linda today bring me to think of our life's journey. Life is a journey along many paths. Along this path you will have experiences and meet people from many walks of life. We do not meet people by accident. They are meant to be on our path for a reason. This person will walk your life path with you. This may be a short journey. This may be a long journey. This person will share their life and family memories with you. This person will always have a story to tell. This person will bring a smile to your mind and heart every time you hear their name. Linda is the one person who walked this path with many of us. This special soul enriched our lives with her joy of the love in her devotion to her faith, her family, her amazing cooking abilities, her organizational skills, and her love of being of service to people. Linda had a glorious long life full of laughter, love and devotion for her extended family and friends. We had talked about our journey's end and her face would light up to think of the time she would be able to be reunited with Sonny, the love of her life. I hope her glorious bliss extends to her family and friends and they feel the love and memories in their hearts today and all the tomorrows to come. She will dearly be missed. Walk in peace, my friend, until we meet again.

Linda loved the Lord. I had the privilege of having her for a dear friend, patron, prayer partner, for many years. This page isn't long enough to list all of the wonderful deeds she has done for me and many others. Oh how she loved her Sony and family. I will hardly cook a meal without thinking of her, because most of what I cook, she gave me the recipe! I know she is rejoicing with Sony in heaven, for this I am thankful. Prayers for her dear family. Linda will be missed so very much.

Rest In Peace, Aunt Linda. You led a long, happy, Christian based life. The love you had for your family was contagious. I will forever be grateful for the love and time you gave to my mom, Judy, as one of the youngest siblings in the Fuller clan. You will be remembered as a fantastic cook, lover of Mexican food, huge OU fan, but mostly for your unwavering love of our Lord. You haven't quite been the same since Uncle Sonny passed away- oh what a reunion that must have been. Until we meet again. Keeli and Mia Bowers
