Celebrating the Beautiful Life of Mishka Davinda Cullison/Morgan

August 8th, 1973 - March 8th, 2025

We gather to celebrate the vibrant life of Mishka Davinda Cullison/Morgan, a woman who perfectly embodied the blend of sweetness and strength. Born on August 8th, 1973, in Tulsa, Oklahoma, Mishka was a beacon of joy whose presence illuminated the lives of everyone around her.

Mishka had a zest for life that was evident in her many passions. She delighted in cooking, could often be found reading a good book, and was moved by the rhythms of music. She was also known for her love of taking pictures. Her adventurous spirit took her on travels far and wide, and she expressed her creativity through arts & crafts. Her loyalty, supportiveness, kindness, intelligence, and confidence were traits that endeared her to all who knew her.

Family was at the heart of Mishka's world. Some of her happiest moments were spent when her children visited her in California, creating memories filled with laughter and love. Back in Oklahoma, she cherished outings with her family to the Gathering Place in Tulsa and cheering at a thunder game in Oklahoma City.

Her favorite saying, "Whatever," was a testament to her easygoing nature and her ability to embrace life's journey with grace and a wink. Mishka's life was a beautiful tapestry of happy memories and meaningful relationships, leaving a legacy of love and strength.

She is lovingly remembered by her children: Justin, Sade, Victor, Omare, and Jaden; her father, Steven W. Cullison; her spouse, Lawrence Morgan; her siblings, Jacinta, Zana, and Randall; and a host of nieces, nephews, aunts, uncles, cousins, and in-laws who were touched by her spirit.

We met in 1991 in Wichita at your Dad's, who is one of my best friends in life. I was taken aback by your beauty and soft grace, combined with an inner strength. You/we were young- you 7 years younger than I. A memory that sticks with me always is when you came to your Dad's, very far along with Justin. The time was growing near. We woke and had a big breakfast (your Dad's handy work). He went to work and we sat and ate and laughed. The baby yawned in your belly and began to kick. You placed my hands on your tummy and covered them with yours. He was enjoying the breakfast! We began to discuss names. Justin Christopher Cullison was in the running. I moved home to Alabama in 2001. Later we connected on Fb. She called me immediately. We laughed and talked. She was so very proud of you kids! She was sweet, and strong, but most of all a Mom. Some places in your heart are filled with one special person. On January 15, this year, while she was in a store with Steve, her Dad, I called to tell him happy birthday. Mishka yelled out in the background, "Tell her I said Hey!" I'm so thankful for that moment and all of the others. Fly high sweet friend. I love you!

Aunt and niece in the Arkansas City, Kansas park and even earlier in life at Grandma Maggie's opening Christmas presents. Because we were only 7 years apart, she always referred to me as her Sister, Aunt and other Mom.

It must have been 1989 or 1990. Mishka joined me and my Tulsa Tribune friends on one of our many getaways to New Mexico. We were crammed in one room in a small mountain motel. We had hiked all day and were stuffed from delicious New Mexico food. We got a little high and got tickled about something. Giggles soon turned to belly-deep laughs so much so that we almost got kicked out. I looked over at Mishka and her smile and laughter radiated a light that surrounded us all.

We were staying at this small motel in Taos crammed in one room because we were young and poor. We'd been hiking all day and had just had some delicious New Mexican food. We were getting a little high. We got tickled about something and giggles soon turned to belly-deep laughs. So much so, that we almost got kicked out. During this gafaw fest, I looked at Mishka and she was surrounded by joyful light. Her smile and laugh radiated all around us.
