“ We had the pleasure of mowing Carolyns yard for the last two years. I always enjoyed talking to Carolyn. She was just as full of sarcasm as I was so the conversations were always interesting. As soon as she would hear the mowers she's come out and we'd talk for a few minutes. Then she'd always come out when we were done and give us Gatorade. The morning I heard the news we were mowing and Carolyn never came out....i knew something was wrong. I think of her quite a bit, miss her sarcasm and jabs. I know she's a lot happier though. We'll see you again. RIP. Todd & Tracy Wadman
