A Broken Wing Destined to be teased and ridiculed. Since the day of your birth, some laughed, others stared, But none of us would ever realize, what just a fraction of your presence was worth. We had all been guilty of shaming you, and asking, Lord what is wrong with this kid, while overlooking our own faults, any of the things that we had did. We all said we'd love you and be there till our dying days, but when the time came, we loved you at arm's length, and just kept pushing you away. We have all assumed about what you know and how you felt, now there is no assumptions needed, just look at this hand that's been delt. They say, spread your wings and fly the sky's your limit, your flight must've been very hard, little brother, those perfect wings, you wasn't born with it. No amount of apologies will ever bring you back, but with the weight of the world on our shoulders, we will continue to keep family on a righteous path. Your homies, saw something in you that only they could see, I wish I was your homie just one time, just to share one of those precious memories. You seeds are sprouting, and a garden of love they will be come, but the cycle has to be broken, or the battle will never be won. Sorry for you loss, I'm here for you, words of endearment that are so cleche' , because where any of us on you last night to at lease listen to any of the things, that you were going thru? If any difference it would've made. Another Angel has risen of a star has fallen from the sky, either way the sky's are still glowing, and the only question that's asked is why? Your soul is resting carnality into paradise and forever more. So heaven no introduction needed, that's our Angel with the broken wing that's knocking at your door. I love you Fernando, Robert Trevino 6/7/16
