“ About two years ago, my husbands job needed him to travel the country. At the time we had three dogs. Mac was one of them. We made a decision to try to find Mac a new home because we could only travel with two dogs. Through a mutual friend, we found Gary. Gary let me cry like a baby when we took Mac to his home. Gary didn't get upset when I sent him message after message through the years checking on Mac like a crazy dog mom.he always told me I could stop by and see Mac anytime I was back home. Gary was kind and loved Mac as much as me. I will always be grateful for finding you and for our little chit chats. You will be missed so much.
