“ Eddie – you don't me but I just learned your mom passed. The first thought I had was of you. She loved you so so so much. The pride she expressed any time she spoke of you was so overwhelming. I know she is still watching over you. I am so profoundly sorry for the loss of your sweet momma.

“ They cried out, and Jehovah heard; He rescued them from all their distresses. Jehovah is close to the brokenhearted; He saves those who are crushed in spirit. Many are the hardships of the righteous one, But Jehovah rescues him from them all. He is guarding all his bones; Not one of them has been broken. Psalms 34:17-20

“ Melissa has been in the fabric of my life for 26 years..we have had highs and lows together, welcomed new chapters in our lives together. She was generous, bright, funny, intuitive and the gal I considered to be my best friend. My heart has been so heavy for not only myself, but her son and family. If I know anything, I know she loved her son more than anything in this world. He is, and will always be the apple of her eye. I will miss her so very much....love you Mel.

“ Eddie will never get to kiss his mother again. This would break Melissa's heart to think about. She loved Eddie more than anything in the world, and he loves her even more.I remember when Melissa and I met at New Hope. Seems like just yesterday. Melissa has so many friends and family that love her.Some say that Melissa is in a better place. I hope that is true, that there is an afterlife where Melissa is full of joy and free from pain. I wanted so much for Melissa to have a wonderful, fulfilling and happy life, without burden or discomfort.She used to often send me YouTube songs. There are a couple that seem to be stuck in my head: "Witness" by Sarah McLachLan and "Candle in the Wind" by Elton John. They haunt me now, bringing me such a heavy heart.Her dad used to say, "I love you real fast." I hope they're running the roads up there together, happy and free.

“ I met Melissa about 7 years ago. She was a client of mine and I of hers. She was a beautiful person inside and out. She loved her Lord and Savior Jesus and I am so thankful we had many conversations about it. I also know how truly she loved her family and little Eddie. He was her world. She would beam with pride anytime she spoke of him and we would often swap funny kid stories. She hugged deeply every time I left her and she gave me that sweet smile. Even though her health was put through so many trials in the past few years, she always managed to stay positive. She was so strong and now she is at peace in the living arms of her Father. She will be missed. Praying for her family and Eddie. God is ALWAYS faithful!
