“ I knew Nancy to be quiet and gentle. She was kind and steadfast. Her loved ones knew that she loved them. She is greatly missed. I am comforted by the vision of her entering heaven and joining her loved ones who went before her. I'm certain she is experiencing God's amazing Celebratory joy!!

“ I have so many childhood memories spent at Nancy's home. She let me stay countless nights without ever telling me that I was getting on her nerves or being too loud. She always made me feel like her home was my home. I remember her and my mom worked together for a bit and often would let Lynn and I help stuff envelopes for her. A piece of my heart went to heaven with her. RIP Nancy and I will see you again one day.

“ Nancy had a sweet disposition and quirky sense of humor. She was an avid reader and competitive game player. Many times she pulled up from arrears and beat us all, especially at farkle. One time she rolled and rolled at the end and beat us all. We all had a good laugh.
