“ Over the years, whenever the subject of an exceptional mother came up I always thought of Roeburta. To raise four great children, especially during the period that Bill was so sick and needed special attention himself. she seems to have accomplished the impossible and made it look easy. We will all miss her.

“ A light has gone out. Roeburta Henderson was and will always be one of my favorite people: a delightful conversationalist, role model, classy dresser, and just a lot of fun. She had many admirable strengths and virtues, but wore them with a light hand. Godspeed, my friend.
