“ I miss Samuel so much.... He was my best friend i have EVER had. He always made me feel i was loved even when i felt i didnt even deserve to be. Samuel was everything to me, and living each and every day is a complete struggle for me. Especially around the holidays because we have spent almost every single one together since i can remember! And now im living my life alone without the one person who meant everything to me. I just wanted to say that; Samuel was everything to me. He made me happy to be alive when i didn't want to be....he is the reason I am the person I am today. And i am forever grateful to God for letting us meet in Middle school and having you so close to my heart! I love Samuel Christopher Shaqill Davis more than anything. And I miss him every. single. day. And his family. I still think of him all the time. And i will never stop!! Merry Christmas Samuel, i hope you're having a great time in Heaven this year! I love you forever!

“ When I remember almost any childhood memory Samuel was there. I don't remember when we met I just remember always being best friends. I remember Always using his window like a front door, eating popsicles even after we dropped them on the ground because God made dirt so dirt couldn't hurt! Or binge watching land before time movies before binge watching was a thing! We were always pretending and playing make believe with dinosaurs or star wars action figures! Having epic air soft battles or playing ghost recon, which happened quite often. But He never could play any sports with us because he would normally fall over laughing before we even got started! And he was a big boy but I could still take him when we played tackle football in my front yard. But in every moment I remember with Samuel is that he was always smiling or laughing. He was pure joy. I am so blessed with the time I got to spend with him growing up. My childhood would have missed a lot of giggles and laughs without him. You were and will always be one of my best friends and I will miss you so so much. With so much love Jamie (Geraghty) Grant, your friend across the street or "hey neighbor" as you would call me.

“ Sammy was my 5th grade student about 12 years ago. My heart aches as I remember the sweetest little boy with a ubiquitous smile and joyful heart. He never had an unkind word for anyone and befriended everyone. Much love and prayers to the entire Davis family.

“ Wow I don't know what to say and this comes as a surprise to me! What happened and why? My homie played Xbox with a lot of us and we used to kick the stuff all day just talking and hanging out? I'm really wondering what happened to him and this is the second Xbox friend to lose. I know he is in a better place and I hope all his loved ones are holding strong and doing well.

“ I remember Samuel always being a super joyful person. I remember him being in the hallways at Victory when we were in school many years back and him always making jokes and keeping things light. We unfortunately never became the closest of friends because we never had any classes together, but I do remember him always talking with me and being a joy to be around whenever our paths crossed. One fond memory I have of him actually doesn't come from a personal face to face interaction we had with one another. It actually comes from a post on Facebook that I posted years ago when I was in dire need of some prayer. My financial situation was in a really bad place where I needed a miracle in order for me to continue attending ORU. I remember this post specifically in terms of memories of Samuel, because Samuel was one of the first people to like my status that day to show me that he was praying for me. It really meant so much to me, something as simple as a like on a Facebook post and an encouraging comment. I had not seen Samuel personally in many years, but the fact that he took the time to show that he was extending a prayer on my behalf really spoke volumes to me and ministered to me in that place. The next day I received the miracle I was trusting God for. That still hasn't left my mind because I actually broke into tears when I saw his name specifically come up, because we had not personally seen one another in so long and yet he still took the time to read my status, like it, and say he was praying for me. I know that he was a good guy with a good heart, and that he will be missed by all who knew him well and all others who he came into contact with throughout his life. My prayers are with all of the family. Me and my family will be praying the peace of God over all of you. I know that Samuel is rejoicing with His Father God in Heaven and that God will send his peace that surpasses all understanding to be with all of you through this period. Much Love & Prayer, Christopher Holmes & Family
