

Sandy Hook Elementary School

December 14, 2012

??The tragedy of what happened at the Sandy Hook Elementary School, in Newtown, Connecticut, is beyond imagining. Our hearts go out to all of the families who have lost loved ones and friends. Please join us in offering your heartfelt messages to these families with this on-line guest book. The messages on these pages and those that have been written in the special book we have placed at Floral Haven Funeral Home will be sent to the Sandy Hook Elementary School, so that they know the people of our area are with them in heart and spirit during this terrible time. We will never know why this happened, but may this horrific tragedy remind us that every moment is precious with the ones that we love.?

“ There are no possible words to describe the pain that experienced when we lose a loved one. I understand the feeling of losing someone. Within the past 3 months I've lost both my brother and uncle to terrible deaths; my brother was in a car accident and he was only 20 years old; and my uncle had a heart attack right in front of me. I know the feeling of being numb after so much grief. But there is someone we can find comfort in. 2 Corinthians 1:3 mentions to us that we can find comfort in God. He is there for us every step of the way. So we shouldn't feel as if we are alone because we aren't. At this time I would like to share a song that describes the comforting hope that God promises us for the future: Life, like a mist, appears for just a day, Then disappears tomorrow. All that we are can quickly fade away, Replaced with tears and sorrow. If a man should die, can he live again? Hear the promise God has made: (Chorus) He will call; The dead will answer. They shall live at his command. For he will have a longing For the work of his own hand. So have faith, and do not wonder, For our God can make us stand. And we shall live forever, As the work of his own hand. Friends of our God, though they may pass away, Will never be forsaken. All those asleep who in God's memory stay, From death he will awaken. Then we'll come to see all that life can be: Paradise eternally. (CHORUS) He will call; The dead will answer. They shall live at his command. For he will have a longing For the work of his own hand. So have faith, and do not wonder, For our God can make us stand. And we shall live forever, As the work of his own hand.

“ It makes my heart hurt that these babies have left this earth in such a tragic way and at what is supposed to be the happiest time of the year. Thoughts of these angels are in my mind every day. How scared they must have been. I take comfort in knowing that GOD has them all now and they are happy looking down on their families. I too have a 7 year old little girl, and I thank GOD every day for her and her sister. It truly hits home for anyone that has a child, but to have one the same age of these babies really puts it into a different light. May GOD give each of the families the strength to push forward and not dwell too long on the sorrow. May you each be happy and the pain lessen very soon. My family and the rest of the country is grieving with you. GOD Bless all of you!Kimberly Warner

“ Words are inadequate. Please know that you are all in our thoughts and prayers. Our hearts are broken, too. We will probably never know why this happened, but we must carry on, knowing that God alone can heal hearts and lives.

“ There are really no words to express the sorrow my family feels for the 26 angels sent to God, their families, and the entire community. Our prayers, thoughts, and tears are with all of you during this tragedy. The community of Berryhill that we live in is small and reminds me of your community, and it kills me to think that a tragedy like this was even possible. My heartaches to think of how any of you must feel. God Bless all 26 of the innocent angels and their families!! They will never be forgotten!! You're in our prayers and hearts forever!! “ Words can't describe what transpired. Words can't describe how people in the US took the news. But words can describe God's love for you and everybody else hurt by this tragedy. For God so loved the world he gave his only son. For whoever believes in him shall not perish but shall have everlasting life.
