“ When I think back to my childhood, my friend Tracy immediately comes to mind. We played countless hours of Barbies in her room, did a million cartwheels in her yard, rode bikes all over the neighborhood and walked together to Henthorne Park pool. She was a bit older than me, always so beautiful and I looked up to her. She and I lost touch after our early teens and we hadn't spoken in over 35 years but I would think of her on occasion. About a year ago, I found her on Facebook only to discover she had been battling cancer for several years. We caught up and promised we'd get together in person when her health allowed, unfortunately that day never came. May you rest in peace Tracy. Sending prayers to her family and friends.

“ Tracy was such an amazing person. She always left you feeling good. She was so warm and welcoming. No judgment ever, just a friend. It didn't matter if we hadn't spoken in months we just would pick right up. I will truly miss that. I could call her day or night. My girl! I was blessed to have her in my life if it was only for a short time. Love you girl. I'll be seeing ya. And we'll catch up again. Just like old times. □

“ Tracy was about two years old when I first met her at my Aunt's house, Delvena Pridemore. She was this adorable happy loving cute little blonde. I was just in my teens. I had the pleasure of playing with her and babysitting her. She was so sweet. Although a year would go by before I could return for a visit, she would immediately remember me and come running. I looked forward to seeing her during my annual visits with my grandmother. I will always remember that cute little smile and sparkle in her eyes. She will be in my heart forever. Rest in Peace Tracy! I know you are with God in Heaven and watching over your family. You are in the Golden Mansion in the sky!
